Danielle M. Brander, MD

Lead, Duke CLL & Indolent Lymphoma Clinic
Division of Hematologic Malignancies & Cellular Therapy
Department of Medicine, Duke University
Duke Cancer Institute
Durham, NC

Danielle Brander, MD, completed her medical degree, internal medicine residency, and hematology/oncology fellowship at Duke University. She continues there as faculty in the Division of Hematologic Malignancies & Cellular Therapy as well as at the Duke Cancer Institute.

Dr. Brander leads the Duke Chronic Lymphocytic Leukemia (CLL) and Indolent Lymphoma Clinic, where she serves as site primary investigator for all CLL clinical trials, many in collaboration with other academic CLL research centers. She is the team lead for both the Duke Lymphoma Clinical Research Working Group and the Duke B-cells Behaving Badly Research Working Group, and is dedicated to institutional and national educational initiatives.

Dr. Brander has participated nationally in both the American Society of Hematology (ASH) Clinical Research Training Program and the Lymphoma Research Foundation (LRF) Lymphoma Clinical Research Mentoring Program. Along with other members of the Duke CLL Research Team, Dr. Brander studies CLL biomarkers that could aid in predicting treatment-related toxicity and resistance, and could serve as future therapeutic targets. She hopes to continue to bring novel treatment approaches to her patients.

Dr. Brander has been honored for her research and teaching. She has received awards including the Silber Award for Most Outstanding Fellowship Research, the Elizabethtown College Apgar Distinguished Alumni Award, and the William Kane Hematology/Oncology Junior Faculty Teaching Award.

FREE PERSONALIZED NUTRITION CONSULTS

Patients and caregivers may receive free one-on-one phone and email consultations with a Nutrition Educator. Please contact our Information Resource Center, 1-800-955-4572 or at infocenter@LLS.org to receive a free consult.

LLSCOMMUNITY

LLS Community is an interactive, online patient and caregiver social network and registry designed to accelerate change and amplify the collective voice of those living with a blood cancer.

How can LLS Community help?

GET SUPPORT

Connect with others who have been through it. LLS Community is a place to talk with other people affected by blood cancers.

GET INFORMED

Get access to valuable information, education, and resources. The information on LLS Community is accurate, up-to-date and from a trusted source.

MAKE AN IMPACT

Too often, traditional research has excluded the patient's voice, the voice that matters most. LLS Community relies on patient experiences and insights to drive program development and research studies that address the needs and real-world challenges of patients living with blood cancer.

Visit communityview.LLS.org to learn more!

FREE WEB EDUCATION VIDEOS

The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society (LLS) invites patients, caregivers and healthcare providers to view free education videos on disease and treatment, survivorship and other topics.

Visit www.LLS.org/educationvideos to view patient videos.

Visit www.LLS.org/professionaled to view professional videos.

Closed captioning is available for some of the videos.
